

THE COURTS.

Some Interesting Testimony in the Countess Heinrich Case.

A LONG ACCOUNT.

Important Question Relating to Trade Marks and Labels.

As old, older perhaps, than the language in which this is written, is the proverb that "short accounts make long friends." A forcible illustration of the truth of this proverb seems to be the case of the Countess Heinrich, now on trial before Judge Van Brunt in the Special Term of the Supreme Court in this city. The generalities of the case, so far as generalities can be gathered from the pleadings in a lawsuit, have already very fully appeared in the HERALD; but the testimony, as it drops from day to day from the lips of the witnesses, presents features in business and social life which all do people not "carry on their sleeves."

As has been already stated in the HERALD, the late Dr. Marley was a dealer in rare and old furniture, articles of ornament and excepcionally fancy. The Countess Heinrich seemed, as she says, to have had ideas which ran in the same groove with the Broadway dealer. Their business dealings ran through years, and, if put in type, would fill volumes of accounts. So long and confused were these accounts that they may be said to have run through the life of the parties. Dr. Marley, it appears, by the Rev. Mr. Fenton and Mr. Billewitz, was a man of means, $10,000 in Manchester, £7,000 in Glasgow and £4,000 in Dundee. The secured creditors are four auction houses who have advanced money on goods consigned to them to sell. Their claims are as follows:—Fried, Morris & Son, £6,150; W. Williams, £6,000; H. Newall & Co., of San Francisco, £12,250. The largest unsecured creditors are the following:—Johnstone & Co., £6,000; George E. Brown, £6,000; Thomas Phoenix & Son, £6,000; James Livingston, £5,000; Macmillan & Co., £5,700; Wm. Stuart, £5,110; Robert Thompson & Co., £5,000; National Banking Company, £2,600; Money Penny & Watson, £2,450; and J. Shenton, £2,750, all of Belfast; Stent & Co., £2,300; Hay, Rivers & Co., £2,300; G. & J. Jackson, £2,000; J. & J. Jackson, £1,750; and Jackson & Fawcett, £4,750, and J. H. Hunt, £2,500, of Manchester; Henry Gray, £5,915; Abraham Gasford, £5,600; Henderson Brothers, £5,240; Thomas Phoenix & Son, £5,300; and J. Shenton, £5,000. The total amount due the firm is £60,000 in goods, the greater part of which is in the hands of the auction houses mentioned above as security for money advanced.
